What happens when you ask us for credit or a credit increase?

We will not enter into a contract with you or increase your credit limit if we assess the contract to be unsuitable.

A credit contract or credit increase will be unsuitable for you where it is likely you will not be able to meet your financial commitments under the contract, or could only do so with substantial hardship or where the contract will not meet your requirements and objectives.

Before we can offer any credit to you, we will undertake an assessment to be sure it is not unsuitable for you.

To do this, we will ask you for information about your income and expenses and ask you to give us documents in support. The types of documents we will ask for may vary each time but can include payslips, letters of employment and bank statements. We will then verify the information you provide and make an assessment.

Obtain a copy of our assessment

You can ask for a copy of the assessment before accepting credit from us or at any time within seven years of accepting credit from us.

We will provide you with a written copy of the assessment at no cost. We will give you a copy within seven business days if the request is within the first two years after the credit was given or within 21 business days if it is outside of that time.

We are not required to provide you with a copy of the assessment if your application for credit or a credit limit increase has been declined.
